The figure consists of two bar charts, one for the 1970s (top) and one for the 1980s (bottom). Both charts show the distribution of the number of children per woman. The x-axis represents the number of children (0 to 10), and the y-axis represents the percentage of women. In the 1970s, the distribution is heavily skewed towards 1 child, with approximately 65% of women having 1 child. In the 1980s, the distribution is similar but shows a slight increase in the percentage of women having 2 children, from about 25% in the 1970s to about 30% in the 1980s. The percentage of women having 0 children is also slightly higher in the 1980s (about 10%) compared to the 1970s (about 8%).
